Marsha Kelliher

CEO, Walsh College

Marsha Kelliher came to Walsh as President & CEO in 2017, bringing decades of academic leadership, teaching, business, and legal experience to her role. Prior to joining Walsh, Kelliher served as Dean of Sigmund Weis School of Business at Susquehanna University in Pennsylvania, where she spearheaded the development of four new majors, led the redesign of the school's London program, initiated the launch of a Women's Symposium and led the reaffirmation of the business schools AACSB accreditation.

Kelliher has made a strong impact in the short time she has been at Walsh, leading an ambitious strategic plan initiative and launching two new academic programs: the country's only multi-course concentration in automotive cybersecurity and the Master of Arts in Business.

Kelliher holds a Juris Doctorate and a Master of Laws in Labor and Employment Law, which, like many Walsh students, she earned while working full-time. She is licensed and has practiced law in both Texas and California.
