

Terry Barclay
President and CEO
Inforum

Terry Barclay is a leader in building gender-balanced businesses with over 35 years' experience working with top management teams of some of the world's best-known companies to capture the benefits of inclusive work environments. As president and CEO of Inforum, Terry oversees the only professional organization in Michigan – and one of only a few in the country –that combines strategic connections, proven professional development programs, a respected forum for new ideas, and original research to accelerate careers for women and boost talent initiatives for companies. Under Terry's leadership, Inforum has become a trusted ally and sought-after resource in helping companies advance gender diversity to find and develop future talent.

Inforum's research-based leadership development programs have been widely used by automotive companies for current and future women leaders. Those include "Ascending to the C-Suite," a collaboration with the Ross School of Business at the University of Michigan that helps senior-level women acquire the specialized knowledge whose mastery is critical for C-suite executives.

Inforum also publishes the biennial Michigan Women's Leadership Report, which tracks women's leadership in the state's publicly traded companies. She is the co-editor of a best-selling book, The Road to the Top is Not on the Map: Conversations with Top Women of the Automotive Industry, which was one of nine books selected to be featured at Gary's Book Club 2020, a part of the Consumer Electronics Show, the world's gathering place for the consumer electronic industry.

Terry serves on the boards of Cranbrook Institute of Science, The Nature Conservancy of Michigan, and Rebel Nell LLC. She is an active angel investor through Michigan Angel Funds I and II. She has BA from the College of Wooster and an MSW from the University of Michigan.
