

Tiffany Gunter
Assistant City Manager
City of Birmingham

Tiffany Gunter assumed her new role as Birmingham Assistant City Manager on January 2. She joined the city from the Regional Transit Authority of Southeast Michigan, where she had been interim CEO.

Prior to that, Tiffany served the RTA in a number of leadership roles that included preparing budgets, acting as public spokesperson, CFO, IT Director, project manager and grant writer. She was lauded by RTA leaders for her political savvy and relationship building skills within metro Detroit's often fractured political power structure.

Tiffany also has served as Executive Dean at Wayne County Community College District (WCCCD) in 2014. She also served as Deputy Project Manager of Transportation for 10 years (2004-2014) for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Her work experience, however, is not limited to service in the public sector. She worked as a Material Cost Manager for Daimler-Chrysler as well as working for three years as an Inventory Manager at Kmart Corp.

Tiffany has a bachelor's degree in general management and finance and a master's in public administration from the University of Michigan-Dearborn. She also has an Executive Leadership certificate from the University of Notre Dame and completed the Kouzes and Posner Leadership Challenge Training Certificate in 2017.
